the Dinois members voted with the majority.

of the office of vice president.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6. The senate organized on the 4th, with W. P.

Mangum, of N. C., in the chair. On the 5th, the senate proceded to the election of printer, when the vote stood thus: Gales and Seaton,

17 Blair and Rives, The senate was not full, but the editors of the Globe received every democratic vote, notwith-

In the house, the appearance of the newspapers from a complication of the rules of the house, which are one hundred and forty in number, and which give old members as much advantage over new ones as a good common law attorney has over a farmer. The one hour rule is now good by a vote of 96 to 92. This misunderstanding has aroused the members, and, having come to the conclusion that congress will close before they can understand such a mass of rules, they have determined to have a committee to revise the rules and simplify them. A dozen rules are believed sufficient to keep the members right and, when the committee reports, the hour rule and the abolition rule will come up again. On Tuesday night, the democratic caucus, by a vote of over 3 to 1, nominated Blair and Rives printers, all the Illinois democrats being present and voting for them. Dr. Lane, of Kentucky, was nominated for sergeant at arms; Caleb J. McNulty, of Ohio, clerk; Jesse E. Dow, of Conn., door ter a session of three nights from 71 to 12 o'clock, thus giving the democratic members a pretty hard time of it, especially the new ones, who were not yet much acquainted.

On Tuesday morning, after the journal was read, Mr. Barnard, of New York, said he did not hear any thing of the paper he presented on Monday, and so he offered a resolution, directing the journal to be amended by inserting a long protest he presented, signed by nearly all the whig members, against the admission of the members elected by general ticket. Whilst this was under discussion, the president's message was received, and the remainder of the day occupied in the discussion of the number of copies to be printed, and five thousand were ordered with the accompanying documents, and ten thousand without them.

These are to be printed by the printer hereafter to be elected, and will be of little use, as the papers will have published it throughout the country previous to their being printed; and the Illinois delegation have already expended one day's pay ($8) in purchasing messages to send to that portion of their constituents who would All of which are offered at very low prices for not be likely to see it in any of the newspapers.

Upon the reading of the journal on Wednesday, protest on the journal, and that the resolution of us. Mr. B, of Tuesday was but a finesse to get the protest on the journal. Here a discussion ensued, and a wide range of debate was taken, involving the merits of the general ticket system.

The debate was interrupted by a vote to elect a clerk, whereupon the vote stood thus:

Caleb J. McNulty. Matthew St. Clair Clarke. Mr. Ingersoll introduced the following, which passed to a 2d reading and was made the order o the day for Thursday : AN ACT to refund the fine imposed on General

Andrew Jackson. Be it enacted, &c., That the sum of one thousand dollars, paid by General Andrew Jackson as a fine imposed on him at New Orleans, the 31st day of March, a.n. 1815, be repaid to him, together with interest at the rate of six per cent. a year since then, out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

After debating somewhat about the election of public printer, the house adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.

Up to three o'clock, the house did nothing but discuss various propositions in relation to the public printing, and the ayes and noes were several times called, which took up much time-Finally, an election was gone into, and the vote stood thus:

say they never will vote for an editor as public pumps need no recommendation after they have printer, on the ground that government patronage and the press should be separated. All the Illinois democrats were present and voted for Blair and Rives. This is a splendid triumph over a thousand conspiracies.

The house then elected Dr. Newton Lane, of Ky., sergeant at arms. The vote stood for Lane. 128, E. M. Townsend, (late incumbent.) 56. J. E. Dow was next elected doorkeeper, by a vote of 129 to 52.

The speaker then asked to be excused from appointing the committee upon elections, as J. M. Cheap for Cash or Winter Wheat. The house then adjourned over to Monday, with a number voting against it, and among them Hoge, Wentworth, and I do not know but all the Illinois delegation. Why should members of congress thus adjourn over two days? On Thursday the senate did no business of im portance, and adjourned over to Monday.
